

JOHNS HOPKINS

BLOOMBERG SCHOOL of PUBLIC HEALTH

A QUALITATIVE STUDY TO EXAMINE THE IMPACT OF SURVIVORSHIP CARE PLANS (SCPS) AMONG BLACK FEMALE BREAST CANCER SURVIVORS

You're invited to join a research study exploring how primary care providers utilize Survivorship Care Plans (SCPs) for their Black female patients who are breast cancer survivors. We invite you to participate in a one-on-one 15 to 30 minute Zoom interview with a study team member and share your experience providing survivorship care for Black women breast cancer survivors. Study participants will receive a $25 Tango e-gift card after completing the interview.

YOU ARE ELIGIBLE IF YOU:

- Are a primary care physician or a nurse practitioner, or physician assistant practicing primary care.
- Provide care for Black female breast cancer survivors in Maryland.
- Have in-depth knowledge of survivorship care plans (SCPs) and have experience implementing them in clinical practice.

TO PARTICIPATE

Please contact the study Principal Investigator, Dr. Avonne Connor (aconnor8@jhu.edu) Phone: (443) 287-5118, or the Research Assistant Lensa Keno, MHA (lkeno1@jh.edu).

